Second Generation (Children)

2. Balthaser Heydrick (*Melchior*¹) was born about 1708 in Niederdorf, Silesia, Preussen, Germany,² was baptized on May 15, 1709, died on January 10, 1753 about age 45, and was buried in Salford Scwhenkfelder Cemetery, Skippack Creek Road, Mainland, Montgomery County, Pennsylvania. The cause of his death was a violent inflammatory disease.

Noted events in his life were:

- He immigrated in 1734 to Philadelphia, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Balthasar Heydrick came in 1734; he is one of the colony of Schwenkfelder refugees who came in the ship "St. Andrew," and arrived at Philadelphia on the 11th of September, 1734, O.S. and signed the declaration on the next day. On the 26th of June, 1735, he bought of John Jacob Fauth two tracts of land of fifty acres each, which were located between Swamp Creek and Society Run, extending from their junction along the former about one hundred and seventy perches, and along the latter about two hundred and sixty perches. He was naturalized in April session of Supreme Court, 1743.
- He was naturalized on June 21, 1743.

General Notes: It appears than Helen may also have been known as Eve.³

Helena married George Heyderick, son of Christopher Heyderick and Unknown. George died on September 5, 1765⁷ and was buried in Salford Scwhenkfelder Cemetery, Skippack Creek Road, Mainland, Montgomery County, Pennsylvania.³ They had no children.

General Notes: George is the son of Christopher Heydrick and younger brother of Casper Heydrick.

Casper and George acquired land in Lower Salford. Following thier deaths, the land was transferred to Abraham Heydrick.

Based on the documented transfer of lands owned by Casper and George Heydrick, Abraham is a nephew to both. This would imply that Abraham's father was a brother to Casper and George. The documentation also implies that Abraham's father was Abraham. Abraham's grandfather would then be Christopher.

More research is required to resolve this properly.³

Noted events in his life were:

- He immigrated September 12, 1734 on the Saint Andrew to Philadelphia, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.⁸ It appears that George was the son of Christopher Heydrick and younger brother of Caspar. Both arrived with their wives and apparently settled in Lower Salford Township, Montgomery County Pennsylvania. George's wife, Eva was the sister of Batlhasar Heydrick, son of Melchior.

On the passing of both George and Casper a portion of the land at Lower Salford was willed to George's nephew Abraham Heydrich (b 1719 d Oct. 16, 1767, husband of Catherine Weber).

6. Susanna Heydrick (*Melchior*¹) was born about 1716 in Niederdorf, Silesia, Preussen, Germany, died about 1793 in Montgomery County, Pennsylvania about age 77, and was buried in Hosensack Schwenkfelder Cemetery, Treichler Road, Palm, Montgomery County, Pennsylvania.

Susanna married Hans Heinrich Jeackel in 1733. Hans was born on February 19, 1708 in Nieder Harpersdorf, Saxony and died on December 21, 1781 in Hosensack Area Of Lower Milford Township, Lehigh County, Pennsylvania at age 73.

He died in 1826, aged nearly eighty-four, and his wife in 1834 aged ninety years. Shortly after his marriage he kept a store at the present Wheel-Pump Hotel. This hotel is in Erdenheim, Pennsylvania a short distance from Yaekle Road on the Bethlahem Turnpike.

What is known as the Yeakle burying-ground is located about a quarter of a mile from the Philadelphia line, immediately on the north side of Chestnut Hill. It was purchased in 1802 by Christopher Yeakle and his two sons, Abraham and Christopher, and his son-in-law, Abraham Heydrick for one hundred dollars. It originally belonged to the Mack family, of Germantown, and was used as a place of interment some time before 1753. Here are buried members of the Mack, Yeakle, Heydrick Schultz, Dowers, Oberholtzer, Krieble and Shuman families of the surrounding section. Tradition states that several soldiers who had died from wounds received at Germantown and from the attack made on the Americans under General Irvine, near by, were also consigned to burial here.

Both arrived with their wives and apparently settled in Lower Salford Township, Montgomery County Pennsylvania. George's wife, Eva was the sister of Balthasar Heydrick, son of Melchior.

On the passing of both George and Casper a portion of the land at Lower Salford was willed to George's nephew Abraham Heydrick (b 1719 d Oct. 16, 1767, husband of Catherine Weber).
